MRVL 2 Y 1D [NASDAQ] D: 10/1/21 O: 60.8 H: 60.87 L: 58.35 C: 59.83 R: 2.52

Reasons

- 1) Semiconductor designer Marvell is benefiting from a bunch of catalysts, such as the rollout of 5G networks, the need for faster networking solutions, the growing demand in semiconductor chips and an increase in data center storage
- 2) Marvell did 4 major acquisitions since 2018, increasing its businesses in Data Centers and 5G Mobile Networks.
- 3) Analysts expect the company earnings to grow at an annual pace of over 36% for the next five years and remain a top growth stock

Nvidia (NVDA)

NVDA NVIDIA CORP COM 207.42 0 0.00% B: 205.24 A: 205.79

NVDA 2 Y 1D [NASDAQ] D: 10/1/21 O: 207.5 H: 208.59 L: 202.03 C: 207.42 R: 6.56

Reasons

1. Nvidia is the leading company for Gaming graphics card and stands to benefit with the increased Gaming activities
2. 5G networks are expected to play a role in the expansion of "edge computing," an evolution of cloud computing. This is a big opportunity for Nvidia who is also the biggest providers of data center processors for cloud applications.
3. In June 2021, NVIDIA announced its partnership with Google Cloud. The collaboration is set to establish the first AI-on-5G Innovation Lab for industry players and partners to develop solutions that support advanced 5G and AI applications.

Intel (INTC)

Reasons

- 1)AMD has been consistently taking market share away from Intel in the CPU market recently
- 2)However, Intel could start staging a comeback in 2022, thanks to a robust pipeline that includes graphics cards and a brand new processor architecture.
- 3)Intel is trading at just 12 times trailing earnings, compared to the S&P 500's average of over 31, which means it is undervalued compared to S&P500 index
- 4)Intel sacked CEO Bob Swan earlier this year and replaced him with VMware's former CEO Pat Gelsinger, a chipmaking veteran who previously served as Intel's chief technology officer.
- 5)This new CEO has big plans coming up!
